ABOUT OLORI

Driven by the desire to empower women who can then positively impact other women luxury African handbag brand Olori, which means “queen” in Yoruba, a Nigerian language, seeks to showcase the beauty of Africa in a way that has yet been done. CEO and founder, Tomide Awe was inspired by her grandmother’s passion for girls’ education and building on her legacy of positively impacting future generations of women. Not only are Olori’s textiles and designs bold and unique, but they also serve as a symbol to further push the mission you can also find in Olori’s tagline, “Make a Statement. Leave a Legacy.”
